What do you enjoy most about your role?

I really like the client contact. You get to know each client on an personal level which makes doing work for them more interesting and rewarding. I also enjoy the out of work activities that we do - i.e. we have lunch time bootcamps.

What do you think made you stand out in the application and interview stages?

I think my eagerness and drive to learn new things and develop my skills was a contributing factor to being hired. I also think my personality to get along with everyone and work hard to get the job done showed in my interview. I also grew up in the country which made me stand out from the other applicants!

What training opportunity have you benefited most at Nexia?

As a graduate we have lunchtime training sessions that discuss typical issues that you would encounter during your work as an accountant. These training sessions were informal which created a relaxed and safe environment to learn and ask questions. As a graduate you are also paired with another more experienced staff member to help and mentor you.

Why did you choose Nexia?

Nexia, being one of the top 10 accountancy firms in WA, positions itself as a promising entity for any new graduate accountant, and I find myself in complete agreement.

Nexia's social culture and friendly working environment also attracted me to the role and during my work placement here.

What were you doing before joining Nexia?

I was studying Masters of Professional Accounting at Murdoch University. Prior to coming to Australia, I had worked in a finance department of one of the biggest logistics firms in Bangladesh, managing the export and import division.

What do you enjoy most about your role?

Most people have this notion that being an accountant is boring and an auditor "lonesome". While this maybe true in some cases, I have never felt this due to the fact that I am always at new places every week, meeting new people and creating new relationships; both professional and personal. I don't believe there is a more dynamic role available in this field apart from the one I am currently in. It has taken me to places all over Australia, starting from the breathtaking Cocos Islands to the gorgeous Ayers Rock.

What made you stand out in the interview stages?

I think I showed the right attitude and that I was willing to work on any skills I was lacking. Also, I think I was able to show from previous work experiences that I am good at working with teams which I believe was important for the firm.

What is your greatest achievement since joining Nexia?

The amount that I have learnt in just one year is something I see as a massive achievement. Also work has been really supportive throughout our CA studies and I received a Pass with Merit for my first module.

What do you find challenging about your role?

Audit is very much a people job, dealing with different personalities and also deadlines can be challenging at times. Growing together with the other graduates roles has been very motivating and they are very supportive. Everyone in the audit team is always willing to help, no matter the question, which has helped me throughout my first year.

life at Nexia

A career in professional services has never been more dynamic and full of possibilities!

We collaborate across teams and offices to achieve the common goal of creating an enviable work environment for our people and great solutions for our clients.

great people + great clients = great firm

You will be immersed in a culture that emphasises team-work and communication, creating an environment in which "work" is an extremely positive place to be.

We appreciate that our people are our greatest asset and work with each individual to support their needs and address their personal goals and objectives.

NAME: BRANDON KULLMANN TEAM: BUSINESS ADVISORY LOCATION: BRISBANE

What training opportunity have you benefited most at Nexia?

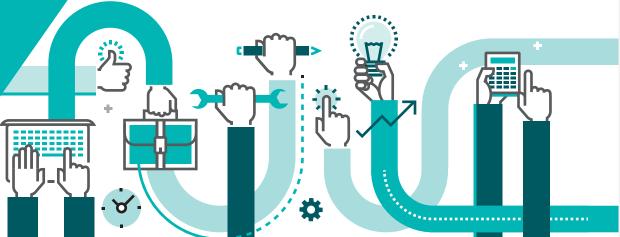

The firm has internal training sessions on a fortnightly basis and we attend an external training session each month where guest speakers, who are experts on specific areas of Tax law, run an in-depth training presentation.

Who has been your greatest supporter at Nexia?

My supervisors and managers have been very supportive and encouraging, they have made me feel like a valuable member of the team and set me on my way to realising my full potential. This support has helped to build my confidence to take on more challenging work and begin studying for the CA program.

What advice would you give to aspiring accountants applying for a position with Nexia?

You can't learn everything from a book. While University is an essential part in becoming an accountant, to really stand out you should get involved in a few extracurricular activities too. This will help you to develop your soft skills, build your networks and show potential employers another side of you.

balance

We go to great lengths to make work an enjoyable experience, and encourage our team to maintain a good balance between time to work, time to study, and time to play.

For us, lifestyle is about a balanced approach to everything we do. You will enjoy working on varied and challenging assignments in an environment that is fun and supportive of having a life outside the office.

We are a social firm, and provide a vast array of opportunities to connect with like-minded colleagues and fill your social calendar including: sports teams, charity events, team and firm celebrations, pub club, and our Next Gen networking group.

Who has been your greatest supporter at Nexia?

My greatest supporter at Nexia has been my managers and the partners, they have challenged me, supported me and provided guidance and advice but most of all they have provided me with many opportunities to grow as a professional.

How important was relevant work experience when applying for a position?

Before joining Nexia I was finishing my Bachelor Degree in Commerce major in Accounting and working part-time as a receptionist at a local dental practice. I believe there is some importance in relevant work experience in landing the job, not so much as accounting work experience but more of customer services and people skills.
believe it all comes down to self-motivation, enthusiasm and hard work that are more relevant in landing the job.

What is challenging about your role?

Dealing with different types of clients in complicated situations can be challenging, but I enjoy the challenge as it is a great learning experience because you either come out on top or learn from your experience. That's the good thing about Nexia, they don't set you up to fail but to help you grow as a person and in your career.

Career
progression

Nexia is the best place to develop your full potential.

We provide a comprehensive training program, including our onboarding program, learning and development guide, access to external seminars and workshops, and tailored suite of training and development courses to suit your technical and personal needs.

At Nexia, you will work alongside and be supported by inspiring professionals who truly care about your development.

To provide ongoing personal support during your career progression, we have career frameworks, promotion opportunities, feedback structures and mentoring systems in place.

Your university studies and post university qualifications are also supported. Across our offices we offer a range of incentives, which may include paid study and exam leave, funding the cost of gaining your qualifications, subsidising textbook costs, and additional study assistance.

Why did you choose Nexia?

Nexia Edwards Marshall has a strong reputation in the Adelaide market for their culture and looking after their people which was a strong fit with what I was looking for in a firm to commence my career.

What training opportunity have you benefited most at Nexia?

Nexia has been a great place to work as a graduate as I continue my professional development. They provide so many opportunities to work on a wide range of different clients both small and large; from general compliance work to additional business development work.

I have spent the last two years completing the Chartered Accounting Program and the level of support and resources at my disposal from the firm has been exceptional. Not many firms support the work/study/life balance for a graduate as Nexia Edwards Marshall do.

What do you find challenging about your role?

There is no ceiling on learning - there is always something new to learn.

Tips on applying

Everyone is different and will suit different types of work environments, and that's why it is important to first consider what firm is right for you.

Do your values align with Nexia; are you interested in what we offer; do you want to be hands on in your career; can you see yourself being a part of our social and collegiate culture?

Your Resume

All great applications start with a good resume. You'll want to make sure the layout is clear and concise contains no spelling mistakes, and include the following key areas:

- Name and contact details we will need your email, home address, and mobile number at a minimum.
- Previous education including high school and university study, and any short courses you've attended. Make sure to add relevant details, including the course name, institution, year you started and finished (or expect to), and overall mark if applicable.
- Previous work experience include your position title, company, the dates you worked, a brief summary of your responsibilities (preferably in a list format). You may also like to highlight your key achievements. Don't be shy about including unpaid or short term work experience, it all counts.
- Extracurricular activities for example, did you take part in any university or school committees; have you volunteered for a charitable cause?
- Hobbies and interests let us know what you enjoy doing outside of the work environment.

Your Cover Letter

Don't underestimate the value of a cover letter. Your cover letter shows us your interest in pursuing a career at Nexia, the way you communicate, and your suitability for the role advertised.

When writing your cover letter make sure you:

- Do your research check out our website, speak with us at careers fairs.
- Tailor your cover letter to the role refer to the job description or advertisement for requirements and the skills you will want to highlight. We've read countless cover letters and can catch a copy/paste letter easily.
- Consider the layout use a letter format, separated into short paragraphs that cover key topic areas. Cover letters should be no longer than ³/₄ of a page in length.
- Keep it simple research indicates that people will only remember the first and last thing you say, so avoid the waffle.
- Double check your work first impressions count, so make sure there aren't any spelling mistakes and your sentences are grammatically correct.

Other Documents

Finally, please make sure you attach all relevant documentation, especially a copy of your most recent academic transcript if requested.

What does a typical day in your role look like?

Audit is an integral part of the accounting world as it allows for the honest representation of financial statements, aids companies in maintaining integrity and the attainment of specific goals and can also provide suggestions for continued improvement.

What is challenging about your role?

The biggest challenge for me, ironically also one of the best aspects of the job, was the foreign nature of the work, which encouraged me to think on my feet. I was required to work on audits albeit not having completed the subject at university and had to quickly refine my excel skills. It seemed impossible, but I managed and ultimately it proved to be highly motivating and very useful; a truly great growing experience.

Who has been your greatest supporter at Nexia?

What allows Nexia to stand out is the people and the culture of honesty, care and ambition. Everyone I met, from Partners, to Supervisors to clients have helped me grow. The Directors have talked with me about my ambitions, plans and struggles and have never discouraged me from asking questions; not because they were obligated to, but because they cared and saw their employees as a priority.
